Gentlemen:

As I am about to prepare an article on the store cards of one A. Loomis, 34 Merwin St, Cleveland, Ohio, whose place of business (provision store - such as groceries, fish, wines, etc.) was in existence during the first half of the century just past.

I understand that your Society has several of the Loomis cards in its possession. It would be a great help to me to have a description of each individual specimen you may have. Find #1 enclosed for your time in writing out and sending me the information.

Thanking you, I am
Very respectfully,
Waldo C. Moore

Mr. Waldo C. Moore,
Lewisburg,
Ohio.

Dear Mr. Moore:-

Please excuse the delay in replying to your letter of October 2nd. I have been so much occupied with other things that I had to delay looking up the Loomis card.

I find that we have in our collection one of the Loomis cards, which is described in Low, No. 158. This card agrees with Mr. Low's discription except that instead of a serpent in the eagle's beak are three links of a chain, and the serpent, which is a very attenuated one by the way, appears on the reverse under the date, 1848. Our specimen is only in fairly good condition, so that I could not make a good rubbing. This piece is illustrated on No. 18 of E. H. Adams' plates of Hard Times Tokens, and a better specimen is illustrated on his fifteenth plate.

I return the dollar herewith. We are very glad to help in any way we can, without making any charge.

Very truly yours,

Director.

I think you can get a copy of the N. with "Ohio Blasts in numismatics", which I was unable to furnish, by writing to Howland Wood. The N. Y. Society gets a big lot of extras each month, and they may have some on hand.

Yours,

Duffield
